PEGASUS BIKE TOURS

February, 2017 Volume 2, Issue 2

Last Chance to Sign up Louisiana Bayou Country Tour—April 1-9, 2017!

It's getting to be time to confirm and set the hotel reservations for this wonderful tour through Carol's home state! It's also an opportunity to get out of the grey and cold to a wonderful spring conditions in Louisiana. The average temperature in Louisiana in early April is right around 70°. Azaleas, honeysuckle, wild orchids and many more should all be in full bloom! The daily mileages are moderate and the elevation gain hardly worth mentioning but there is so much history and culture with something extra nearly every day. Plus we will have a full day of sightseeing in New Orleans! What better way to get a start on the 2017 cycling season? To register for this tour go to: <http://www.pegasusbiketours.com/register> now!

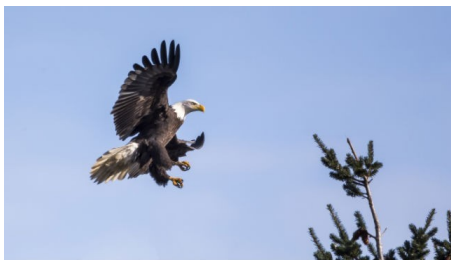

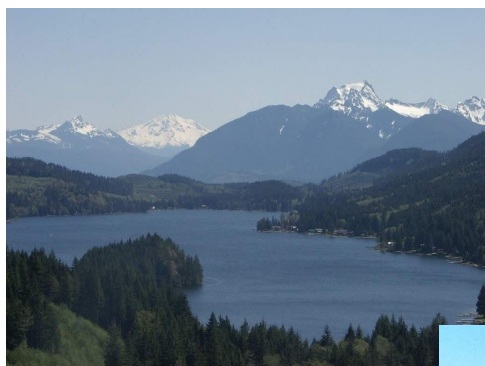

Spot for a Single Male on the Heart of Holland Bike & Barge Tour—5/27-6/6

There is a new spot open for a single male on this summer's Heart of Holland Bike & Barge Tour. There's no better way to see The Netherlands than by bike and boat. With a native guide and a tour leader who speaks the language and knows the culture you won't find a better experience anywhere. Come join us for this wonderful tour. Spotlight on Western Washington Tour—September 9—17, 2017

Our new Easy/Intermediate tour for this year highlights some of the best cycling available in Washington. The scenery is stunning and the routes are some of the favorites of western Washington cyclists. Since our base hotel is in Mount Vernon, roughly halfway between the mountains and the water, we will ride up into the foothills of the Cascades a couple of times and out to the Puget Sound several times as well. It is also a great time of year to see wildlife. Since this is a fixed base tour, there is the option not to go at all one day and there are sometimes possibilities to ride a bit less as well. We think both native Washingtonians and folks from outside the state will love this tour. Check out the full details at <http://www.pegasusbiketours.com/>.
